

it's time to breathe 7 -
the whirlwind's bride

voice and rustling paper

eva-maria houben

© edition wandelweiser 2020

catalogue number ew16.353.7

it's time to breathe (1-8)

a collection for duos

eva-maria houben

2020

it's time to breathe again and together.

inhaling and exhaling the world.

conspiratorial meetings.

finding places and islands of time.

time for each other; peaceful, silent places for each other.

finding ways to say "NO" and "ON".

spending time together—hopeful, without fear.

this collection is a declaration of love to beauty.

1) pan's hour

2) forlorn island

3) blue

4) pebbles

5) still alive

6) far off

7) the whirlwind's bride

8) flutes

the whirlwind's bride
voice and rustling paper

eva-maria houben

2020

I raised my voice!

it was terrific to listen to my voice.

I loved to listen to the echo of my voice in the wide space.

I loved to compete with the winds in the mountains, with the whirlwinds of the ocean wide—with the gentle whisper of the heavenly voice, with the sighing of the world.

I fly off!

rustling paper—for quite some time.

at some point this noise stops, and the stage is free for the voice.

voice:

singing simply single words (different expressions).

when the rustling paper reappears, the voice falls silent.

unknown

splitter

daring

involved

slumber

conscious

aware

beauty

hopeful

trusting

belief

fragment

unsure

doubtful

fleeting

airy

nothing

passing

secret

magic

hidden

whisper

endless

dreaming

breathing

ancient

weakness

lonely

absence

windy

away

sometimes

again

nowhere